

About our Speaker

Name: Deepa Subramanyam

Where does she work: National Centre for Cell Science, Pune

What does she do: I work with stem cells and try and understand how they can be used to make other cell types that are present in our body.

What are your interests:

In my job: Looking at embryos and cells under a microscope!

Outside: Reading, travelling and getting others interested in science.

Where and what did she study:

BSc. Biochemistry- PSG College of Arts and Science, Coimbatore (1999).

Integrated PhD. National Centre for Biological Sciences, Bangalore (2006).

Postdoctoral research: University of California at San Francisco (2012).